ENEMY ARTILLERY ACTION HEAVY

Germans Advance Along the Aisne To Retard Poilus
Striking at Laon

(By the Associated Press.)

The Germans have markedly stiffened their resistance against the Allied armies from the region of Arras to Rheims, but their efforts to ward off further encroachments into the territory they are now holding have failed.

All along the front the German big guns are violently in action, while machine guns in vast numbers are being used in front of strategic points which the Allies are endeavoring to gain. Nevertheless, the British have dug more deeply into the sector southwest of Cambrai, capturing important positions on the four-mile front between the Havincourt wood and Piziere, regaining their old trench positions dominating Gouzeaucourt, and capturing Gouzeaucourt wood.

Meanwhile, to the south, the French are only a short distance west of St. Quentin and are at the gates of La Fere. On this last-named sector, the French daily are enlarging their turning movement against the great St. Gobain forest, the conquest of which would remove the great barrier to an allied advance in the forest eastward toward Laon in an outflanking movement against both the Aisne and the Chemin-des-Dames positions of the enemy.

Huns Offer Stiff Resistance.

The Germans here and northeast of Soissons are offering most determined resistance against the French, realizing that should General Mangin's strategy be successful the entire German line eastward to Rheims necessarily would be compelled to undergo marked re-adjustment. Thousands of machine guns and guns of large calibre are firing away against the French. Along the Aisne, the Germans are still advancing to retard the advance of the French in further crossings of the stream, probably in order to give their main army a chance to make its way unimpeded northward in case of a quick rush by the French toward Laon, a maneuver which seems in the making by Marshal Foch's forces. Large numbers of reinforcements have been rushed up by the Germans here and also along the Aisne front, where the Americans are fighting alongside the French.

Three Vital Points.

Particular attention is being given by the Germans to three points of their line in Flanders, northeast of Soissons, and around Rheims. A breach through at either point by the Allies would spell disaster to the camp.

Therefore, the German high command is buttressing them for eventualities. In Flanders, the German strategy seems to be the obliteration of points vulnerable to sharp sallies. Particularly is this noticeable along the Lys river south of Ypres, where the Germans are reported to have re-located all their artillery to the east side of the river, and a little to the north around Wytschaete, where the British have advanced their line nearly a mile, and apparently with slight opposition.

The concentration of artillery of all calibers, including machine guns, and large bodies of men in the region of Soissons, where every rock and cranny of the rolling country contains hordes of defenders, proves the importance the enemy places in holding this territory, while nothing is being left undone in the region around Rheims to strengthen in guns and men power the German line against

Secretary Baker at Paris Home of General Pershing

Paris, France, Sept. 9.—(Newton D. Baker, the American secretary of war, has arrived in Paris. The secretary was conducted to the city home of General John J. Pershing, commander-in-chief of the American expeditionary forces, where he will remain and hold conferences during the next few days.

Secretary Baker said that he had no statement to make at the present time. It is expected that his visit will permit conference between the Americans and Entente Allied officials. He will visit American headquarters and principal centers of American activity.

MOUNT VERNON WAS CARRYING WOUNDED

Thirty-five of Crew Lost Lives
When Torpedo Struck
Army Transport

Paris, France, Sunday, Sept. 8.—The American transport Mount Vernon, formerly the German steamship Kronprinzessin Cecilie, which, though torpedoed by a German submarine last Thursday off the coast of France, was able to make port, was carrying wounded and sick soldiers back to the United States.

Senator James H. Lewis of Chicago, who was among the passengers, all of whom were saved, is suffering from a chill resulting from exposure while carrying wounded men from their bunks. Thirty-five engine room hands lost their lives when the torpedo struck the vessel.

Congressman Thomas D. Schall and Attorney John Cross of Providence, R. I., were among those on board. Mrs. Schall, the wife of the blind representative from Minnesota, led her husband up on deck and across the ship to lifeboat. Both were calm and acted as though they were in no peril.

Most of the crew of the Mount Vernon were at breakfast and the doctors were making rounds of the sick and wounded soldiers lying in the bunks when the attack occurred. With the explosion of the torpedo, the steamer seemed to leap upward, then settled back into the water and the water began pouring through a great hole in her side.

A call to the lifeboats was made, but by this time many of the passengers had reached the decks.

The officers and crew of the Mount Vernon showed perfect discipline and efficiency. Most of the seamen were young and for many it was their first trip, but they acted like old hands. In a short space of time they had all the bulkheads closed and the steam cocks shut off. Sometimes they were compelled to swim through rising water in order to get at the valves.

SOME HEROIC AMERICANS.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 9.—Home addresses of six members of the American Expeditionary forces awarded the distinguished service cross by General Pershing as reported in his communication of Sept. 5, were announced today by the war department as follows:

Corporal Antony C. Bills, 315 Wood street, Dubois, Pa.; Private Walker A. Shamanski, Mount Carmel, Pa.; Private Franklin D. McVickers, Portage, Pa.; Private Edward S. Hartwell, Paris, France; Second Lieutenant William H. Spencer, St. Louis, Mo.

REPUBLICANS AHEAD IN MAINE.

Portland, Me., Sept. 9.—The Democrats made deep inroads into the Republican vote in the election in Maine today, but early returns indicated that they failed to wrest control from the Republicans. On the face of figures from more than half of the state, it appears that United States Senator Bert M. Fernald, Republican, and probably all four Republican congressmen, have been elected returned to office.

The assaults the Germans apparently realize are soon to come.

No Let Up in German Rout.

After virtually two months of hard fighting, in which from Arras to the old Hindenburg line remains intact, this is from the southwest of Cambrai to La Fere, and the British and French are virtually upon it at distances ranging from a half mile to six miles at the farthest, where the British and French are standing west of St. Quentin. When the drive began St. Quentin was 33 miles distant from the Allied front.

CRITICISM OF REVENUE BILL OCCUPIES HOUSE

Representatives Fordney and Moore Charge Wastefulness in Government Expenditures

Washington, D. C., Sept. 9.—Criticism of the war revenue bill by the Republican spokesmen occupied the house today in the general debate.

Inequalities and inconsistencies in levying taxes, characterized as unnecessarily high, and charges of waste in government expenditures were the principal complaints made in prepared speeches by Representatives Fordney of Michigan and Moore of Pennsylvania, ranking Republican members of the ways and means committee. Both, however, promised to vote for the bill in the furtherance of American success in the war despite their criticisms. Hearings by the senate finance committee on the bill, resumed today, were confined to objections to minor provisions.

The house debate today was attended by less than one-fourth of the members, but those present displayed close interest with questions and retorts.

Excessive taxation and a failure to raise tariff rates were emphasized by Representative Fordney, who said the bill proposed to secure 45 per cent of this year's actual expenditures ($18,000,000,000 exclusive of Allied loans) by taxation. As alleged extravagance in expenditures Mr. Fordney cited government contracts, some, he said, netting profits up to 1,000 per cent.

There were touches of politics in today's discussion. While partisananship had not entered into framing the bill, Representative Fordney also charged that the President alone had shown partisan politics and Mr. Moore declared the Republican minority was helpless in framing the bill and if in control would not have brought forth the measure as it stands.

Among instances of alleged waste of government money, Representative Fordney included certain publications issued by Chairman Crel of the committee on public information, who, he said, should be "kicked out." Representative Moore called attention to the aircraft expenditures and "cost plus" contracts covering contractor's taxes.

DRAFT BOARDS STILL HAVE EXEMPTION RIGHT

New Priority Order Not Binding
in Determining Deferred
Classification

Washington, D. C., Sept. 9.—The priority classification of industries announced yesterday by the war industries board will not bind district draft boards in determining deferred classification on occupational grounds of men between the ages of 18 and 45 years, who are to register Thursday. The boards may determine that other industries are necessary, but if granted deferred classification, they must satisfy themselves that the industry is necessary and, further, that the individual registrant is essential to the industry. These facts were disclosed by Provost Marshal General Crowder's plan for applying a more liberal occupational exemption scheme in classifying the new registrants which was made public today, together with the text of the amended draft regulations and supplement to the questionnaire explaining to registrants the section in which facts relating to their classification should be noted.

The regulations provide that the advisory committee, three to each district, one to be named by the department of labor, one by the department of agriculture and the third by the board itself, may introduce at hearings on deferred classification, the war industries board priority list, but adds: "Such lists shall not be regarded as binding upon the district board upon its conclusions."

Detailing the method boards are to follow, the regulations say a registrant shall be considered entitled to exemption only when completely engaged in an occupation the board classes as essential; when his removal would result in substantial damage to the enterprise and when the available supply of persons competent in the capacity is such that the registrant cannot be replaced without direct, substantial and material loss and detriment to the effective operation of the enterprise.

In general, the regulations fix the place of a necessary workman in a necessary occupation in class 2; the place of an expert or assistant manager or divisional head in class 3; and the place of a sole manager or director in class 4.

AIRMAN POSTPONES TRIP.

New York, Sept. 9.—Max Miller, the aviator carrying mail from Chicago to New York, will not continue his journey from Lockhaven, Pa., tonight, according to a telegram received by the postal authorities here. Miller, it was stated, would resume his flight tomorrow morning. He arrived at Lockhaven at 4:50 this afternoon.

RED SOX GET BIG EDGE ON SERIES WIN FOURTH GAME

RUTH WRECKS THE CUBS

Contest Broken Wide Open in Fourth By Red Sox With Brilliant Playing

ANOTHER GAME TODAY

By Winning Yesterday's Duel, 3 to 2, Boston Leads the World's Series, 3 to 1

Boston, Mass., Sept. 9.—The Boston Americans got the big edge on the world's series by beating the Chicago Nationals in a mad scramble for the fourth game today by a score of 3 to 2. This gives the Red Sox a lead of 3 to 1 in the series, and it is necessary now for them to win only one more game to make them the war-time baseball champions of the world.

Both teams departed from last night's perfect baseball for the first time since their meeting, and the explosion which resulted kept the fans in a future of old-time big series excitement.

Babe Ruth, Boston's big southpaw and slugger extraordinary, led the home team in the eighth and ninth innings, wrecked the Cub machine for good and all, but was hoisted by his petard in the eighth and ninth innings.

Boston Starts Things in Fourth. The game was broken wide open by Boston in the fourth. Tyler got himself into a hole by passing, Shean, the first man up, Strunk smashed the ball hard to center, but Paskert raced under it for a neat out. Shean, taking advantage of Tyler's leislurely windup, dashed for second and made it standing up, while Killefer let the ball get through him for a short passed ball.

It was a clean steal for Shean, nevertheless, and the crowd roared for a run. With Whitman up, Tyler wobled again and issued another pass. The stands were fairly rocking when Stuffy McInnis strode to the plate, but the best the Gloucester boy could do was to force Shean at third. Then along came Ruth.

Two runners were on bases. Red Sox rooters feared that Tyler would not take a chance with that big black bat for the first three pitches were wide of the plate. The next one curved over for a strike. Owens called the next strike two, while the burly Babe scratched around the box in disgust. Then he dug himself in at the plate and, with the count three and two, waited to see if Tyler dared to send one over. Tyler dared.

Ruth Brings in Two Runners.

Ruth swung into the ball savagely and the gleaming sphere soared in a steadily upward climb for the right centerfield. It was a hard drive to judge and Flack ran in for a stop and then started back in a wild chase. Before the ball slammed into the outfield barrier, Whitman and McInnis had scampered home and Ruth was heading for third like a big tank runs wild. He beat the throw in easily and reached third while the National leaguers tried to adjust themselves to the same chaotic conditions. Babe Ruth's bat has created in the American league all season. Everyone rooted for Scott to bring the big fellow home, but the short stop lifted a high one to Paskert.

Ruth, in the eighth, fairly reeking with sweat, after the way of great southpaws once they begin to lose the sense of location, walked Killefer, the next man up. As he tried to steady himself, he grooved one over to Hendrix, who batted for Tyler and the pinch-hitting pitcher crashed an ominous single into deep center. Killefer took second. Babe then unloaded a wild pitch, putting Killefer on third. Hendrix on second, and gone out. McInnis walked to the box and talked very plain Anglo Saxon into Ruth's ear, and what the first first baseman forgot to say Dave Shean was on hand to say.

Cubs Come in For Two Runs.

Babe was sweating but game. He put over a good one for Flack, who tapped to McInnis for an unassisted put out, while the other runners held to their bases. McCabe was put in to run for Hendrix as the hard-hitting Hollocher came up. Hollocher hit sharply to second, but was thrown out. Killefer scoring in the melee. Leslie Mann then tied up the game with a sharp single to left, which scored McCabe. Fred Thomas ended the agony by throwing out Paskert at first on a slow bounding roller.

Boston went into its half of the eighth full of venom at having to win the game all over again.

For the first time in the series, they found a right-hander facing them in

Given 30-Year Sentence For Spreading Propaganda

Camp Dix, N. J., Sept. 9.—Convicted of deserting after being drafted by a board in Philadelphia and of spreading anti-war and pro-German propaganda among soldiers after he was brought here, Andrew Biginsky was sentenced to life imprisonment by a court martial today. Major General Hugh L. Scott, camp commander, reduced the sentence to 30 years imprisonment.

Victor Schaefer of North Bergen, N. J., convicted of disobeying orders and seeking to evade military service, was sentenced to 25 years imprisonment.

Under a new ruling of the war department, it was stated, the men were at once retired from the service and will serve the sentences as civil instead of military prisoners, thus losing all insurance.

RED SOX CONFIDENT OF WINNING SERIES TODAY

Total Attendance At First Four Games is 88,551—Receipts
Are $128,755

Boston, Mass., Sept. 9.—Indications tonight were that the batteries for the fifth world's series game tomorrow would be Jones and Agnew for Boston and either Vaughn or Hendrix and Killefer for Chicago.

Manager Barrow of the local team was sure he would send in Jones and was likewise confident of winning the series tomorrow. He said: "Today's game gives us a big lead in the series. I expect one more game will finish up and Boston will come through the winner tomorrow. I am going to give Jones a chance to pitch tomorrow and I think he will measure up in good style. But I've got Mays in reserve anyway."

Manager Mitchell of Chicago declared that the Cubs had a fighting chance to win the series. He said: "We worked hard for today's game but lost. We have still got a fighting chance to take tomorrow's game and then capture the series on the next two days. The opportunity to win is always there. I'm going to wait until tomorrow before deciding who will pitch for us."

Total attendance and receipts of the world's series game today follows: Total attendance, 22,113. Total receipts, $28,290. Players' share, $15,277.68. Each club's share, $5,932.56; $75.50.

BRITISH ADVANCE BUT LITTLE DURING MONDAY

Fresh German Divisions Make Appearance in Endeavor to Halt English

(By the Associated Press.)

With the British Army in France, Sept. 9, 4 p. m.—Although little strips of ground have been gained here and there along the battle lines that zigzag their way across Artois and Picardy, the British troops generally were stationary today.

In actions of maneuver, such as the British as well as the French to the south were engaged in, pauses of this kind were inevitable.

Meanwhile, fresh German divisions have made their appearance in this region, so it may be expected that the resistance will become stiffer. Not a great deal of ground remains to be captured before the Germans will be pushed back completely on the Hindenburg line. Generally speaking, the British armies are now about five miles away from the center of the Germans' much-boasted defense system.

The Germans are having a most uncomfortable time, for the British guns, in addition to laying their shells on the Germans between the British infantry positions and the Hindenburg line, are vigorously hammering the enemy's rear. The British artillery, firing on the forward enemy areas, are creating great havoc.

The enemy has by no means even started to recover from the shocks he has received day after day since the British offensive began, and it is considered more than likely that new divisions have been thrown in through the desire to stiffen the German morale, quite as much as to stiffen the line for a time.

The principal activity today was in the rear around Gouzeaucourt. The high ground overlooking Gouzeaucourt and the wood of the same name to the northwest were captured. The British guns from this section are able to break a fire in the enemy positions to the south.

GARFIELD TO FIX THE PRICE OF GASOLINE

Lower Figure Than Present
Price Is Expected to be Announced

Washington, D. C., Sept. 9.—Fuel Administrator Garfield announced today that he expects soon to fix a price for gasoline for domestic consumers as well as the government and the Allies at a figure lower than the present market price. He is waiting for his reports on the situation before taking definite action.

No intimation was given as to what the fixed price would be. Dr. Garfield's announcement disclosed that, for some time consideration has been given the problem of bringing the price of gasoline to a lower level. Several reports already have been made to Mark L. Requa, director of the oil division of the fuel administration, and it was intimated that upon completion of the investigation now being conducted, immediate action would be taken.

The disclosure of Dr. Garfield's purpose came during an informal talk with newspaper correspondents, at which were disclosed the stock of gasoline in the country and the stated storage east of the Mississippi river, which cause the administration to request that no passenger automobiles be operated on Sunday in that section.

The senate today displayed its interest in the autoless Sunday request by adopting a resolution offered by Senator Lodge of Massachusetts asking the administration for information as to the country's production, consumption and exportation of gasoline with separate figures on this amount used by passenger cars.

JURY CHOSEN IN SHORT TIME

Required Only Two Hours And 15 Minutes to Obtain the Jury

Cleveland, Ohio, Sept. 9.—The speed with which a jury was selected and the arrest of seven persons in the court room for applauding the peroration of the opening statement of Attorney Seymour Stedman, of the defense, were features of the opening session of the trial of Eugene Victor Debs today on five counts of an indictment charging violation of the espionage act.

Rose Pastor Stokes was among those who admitted applauding and was arrested on orders from the bench by Judge D. C. Westenhaver. The others were: M. S. Basista, Max Slo-pouh, Margaret Pavey of Akron, Frank Wells, Edgar Delaney and J. J. Freid.

Judge Westenhaver was exceedingly wroth, declaring it only a deliberate contempt of court. Later he said that perhaps he had been unduly vexed, but this concession went only far enough to allow the culprits their liberty on their personal recognition instead of on bail. He ordered that they appear before him tomorrow morning, a half hour in advance of the resumption of the trial proper.

Judge Debs "By His Works."

F. B. Kavanaugh, the assistant United States district attorney, who made the opening statement for the government, had closed by asserting that the jury should judge Debs "by his works."

Stedman accepted the defy, saying: "If the defense accepts the challenge, you shall know him by his works—by the works of his whole life."

As Stedman sat down he was applauded and the court took action. Attorney Stedman and Attorney W. A. Cunnea, also of the defense, argued earnestly against holding the culprits, but the judge insisted that they should appear before him in the morning.

It required only two hours and 15 minutes of actual work to obtain a jury. All were old men and largely men of property. Mr. Stedman said it was not the kind of a jury he would have chosen. The judge's instructions, however admitted of little latitude in challenging for cause. Only two men were dismissed in this manner, both confessing that it would be difficult for the defence to dislodge their prejudice against anyone who opposed the government, however slightly in any of its measures to win the war speedily.

Ridiculed Army and Navy in Speech.

The defence had exercised all of its ten challenges in getting rid of venere men of Civil war antecedents and patriotism when the jury was sworn. The government had three of its six left. Their examination of venire men was brief and perfunctory, while the defence went fully into the question of prejudice and political opinion.

The greater part of Kavanaugh's opening statement was devoted to reading the indictment and Debs' entire speech at the Socialist convention at Canton, Ohio, June 16, on which the indictment is based.

In that speech, according to the indictment, Mr. Kavanaugh remarked, Debs held the army, the navy and the uniform to ridicule, opposed the ideals for which the American flag stands, criticized the cause of the war, made remarks calculated to promote insubordination and attempted to propagate obstruction to the draft.

Mr. Stedman declared that the transcript of Debs' speech upon which the indictment was based was inaccurate in the omission of words and even whole paragraphs.

BAKER NOT LONG IN FRANCE.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 9.—Secretary of War Baker, whose arrival in France was announced last night, expects to be away from Washington only a short time, it was learned today authoritatively. The principal object of his trip is to confer with officials regarding the aircraft program. It was said here that important decisions relating to the American air service would be reached by the Secretary, General Pershing and his aides and John D. Ryan, assistant secretary in charge of aircraft before Mr. Baker and Mr. Ryan return home.

Backache is Discouraging

But Not So Bad If You Know How to Reach the Cause.

Nothing more discouraging than a constant backache. Lame when you awaken, pains pierce you when you lean or lift. It's hard to work or to rest. Backache often indicates bad kidneys. Oneonta people recommend Doan's Kidney Pills. Read this case:

Mrs. Nina McHale, 9 Miller street, says: "Several years ago I had a severe case of kidney complaint. I had sharp pains in my back and when I sat in a chair I could hardly get up again. Specks appeared before my eyes, blurring my sight and I was in a nervous, run-down condition. My feet and hands swelled, too. I was advised to try Doan's Kidney Pills and used a few boxes. My trouble disappeared and I gladly recommend Doan's."

BEFUDDLED GERMANS FEAR "CRAZY" YANKS

Say Americans Are Likely to Come Over Top Any Time, Spoiling Things.

That the Americans present entirely new problems to the slow-thinking Germans is indicated by a letter from Sergeant B. S. Watts to his father in Pittsburgh. "German prisoners that talk English tell us that the Americans are crazy," he writes. "They don't know what they are doing, and are liable to come over the top any time and break up the natural order of things."

"Before the Huns started this open warfare the whole affair was cut and dried. First, the Germans would put over a barrage and then attack, and then the French would take their turn. But the marines are liable to go over any time, barrage or no barrage, which upsets the placid German very much and instills the fear of the American in him. They never want to face the Americans more than once."

"You ought to see the American kids parading by. Some eighteen-year-old American will come piking up the road chasing four or five 'squareheads' (Germans), and the kid is all smiles when he tells how the whole sneer of Huns were on their knees bawling 'kammerad'. These marines are the most enthusiastic fighters in the business."

"Right back of our position are about twenty acres of potatoes, but whenever anyone tries to hoe them along comes a bunch of shrapnel, so there is no chance of loosening the ground. It is a shame, all the stuff that is planted up here; wheat ready to be harvested now, and potatoes everywhere, but no one to take care of the crop, as all the civilian population fled when the Germans came down."

THIRD LIBERTY LOAN RESULTS. Washington, D. C., Sept. 9.—One out of every six persons in the United States bought Liberty bonds of the Third loan last April and May. The exact number of subscribers was 18,305,325, 17.7 per cent of the 103,000,000 estimated population of the country. New York state led in the voluntary subscriptions and number of subscribers but Delaware subscribed the highest percentage of the quota and the city of Washington furnished the largest proportion of its population as bond buyers.

This has been disclosed by a treasury report of Third Liberty loan subscriptions by federal reserve districts, states and principal cities.

Figures submitted by these institutions show that their total resources on that date were $2,169,877,364, as compared with the total resources reported on July 1, 1917. Change N-O-W to W-O-N

Did you ever notice the similarity of the word "NOW" to "WON"? Separate the letters in the word "now," and you have "w-o-n." Spell it backwards and you have "w-o-n."

Isn't it plain that to be able to say I "won," I must do a thing now, and that the elements used for attaining the "won" column are largely built around the word "now"? Action or inaction now is the determining factor. The word "won" will never be written unless someone actually performs an act "now."

GIRLS! DRAW A MOIST CLOTH THROUGH HAIR, DOUBLE ITS BEAUTY

Try this! Hair gets thick, glossy, wavy and beautiful at once.

Immediate!—Yes! Certain!—that's the joy of it. Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after a Danderine hair cleanse. Just try this—moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt or excessive oil, and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair. A delightful surprise awaits those whose hair has been neglected or is scraggy, faded, dry, brittle or thin. Besides beautifying the hair, Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp; forever stopping itching and falling hair, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair growing all over the scalp. If you care for pretty, soft hair, and lots of it, surely get a small bottle of Knowledge's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter for a few cents.

SIDNEY FAREWELL RECEPTION.

Mr. and Mrs. O. T. Fletcher Tendered Party Before Leaving for Suffield.

Sidney, Sept. 9. — The high esteem in which Rev. and Mrs. O. T. Fletcher and family are held was emphasized at the reception tendered them Thursday evening, when the Congregational manse was filled to capacity by the many friends who called to pay their respects. Through the efforts of the Ladies' Aid society of the church the sum of $150 was raised by popular subscription and presented to Mr. Fletcher. The Delaware County Humane society, of which he has been president the past six years, presented him with a beautiful ring in honor of his efficient work as the society's head. The presentations were made by Dr. L. M. Day in neat, complimentary speeches, which were feelingly responded to by Mr. Fletcher. As an individual token of esteem in which he was held by herself and her late husband, Mrs. F. H. McKinnon presented him with the valuable gold watch formerly worn by Mr. McKinnon. Refreshments were served during the evening and a very pleasant time passed. Mr. Fletcher and family will leave on Monday of next week for Suffield Conn., where he has accepted a position as teacher of mathematics in the Suffield School for Boys, of which Prof. Hobart Truesdell, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. EDITORIAL BRIEFINGS.

In England the hens are being rationed, four ounces of food being allowed daily to hens which produce eggs in satisfactory numbers. In America it would seem to be the proper thing to give plenty of food to hens and stimulate egg production instead of cutting down rations for non-delivery of goods.

While the salaries of railway employees, in the operating departments have largely been increased, secretary, or rather Director General McAdoo says that the salaries of executives are lower than under government control. This may be all right, but it is to be considered that to executives as well as others the added cost of living has come home.

The Kaiser of Germany, to the Hetman of Ukraine: Three lusty "hochs!" The hetman of Ukraine to the Kaiser: Three more hochs!" This exchange of courtesies between two such worthies is touching; but it is to be remembered that they mean very little, being as worthless in the day of renunciation as the proverbial "slip of paper."

The Gasolineless Sunday was pretty generally observed throughout the east on the 8th, and in New York city the estimate of fuel saved is 99 percent. In the whole city only 1,131 automobiles were counted by the police, and there are over 92,000 in the city. It is a record which the country over was duplicated, and every smallest hamlet is proud of its standing.

If the Huns believe in reciprocity, they are getting it now. The Allied airplanes are bombing their cities and the Allied gas bombs are causing much distress inasmuch as few of the Germans are provided with gas masks and these of inferior quality. The Germans now are protesting both, and this despite the fact that they were the leaders in this dreadful sport. It is no time now for the Huns to cry "no play" and "no fair."

One of the tempting baits to Germans is said to be the American invitation to surrender and get fed. They gather in groups and gladly give themselves up at the first chance. It was the lure of vast stores of food to be captured, which the Austrian high command used in urging its men on in Italy. Now it is used by the Allies more kindly and effectually.

A photographer for the press asserts that the Germans have started on a 24,000 mile hike to take Paris from the rear. This may account for the German prediction that the war will not be over in another year. "Tis a long way to Paris, via Tokio, San Francisco and New York."

There are three days yet during which independent nominations for office can be filed in the state of New York and yesterday was the last day on which custodians of primary records could certify the result to the secretary of state. So far as is known there are to be no independent nominations either state, district or county, which will greatly if at all interest the voters of Otsego county or of Delaware. The tickets as named will have party support and in fact if there were to be independent ones the time is too short for the work of securing signatures to be done.

BLOOMFIELD AND BEARD.

Assembly Candidates Will Address County W. C. T. U. at Cooperstown.

Announcement is made by the Otsego County W. C. T. U., which meets in annual convention in Cooperstown today, that Hon. Allen J. Bloomfield and James J. Byard, ex-Republican and Democratic candidates for assembly from this county, will be present at the afternoon session today. They will speak on the work of the legislature.

Mrs. Ella A. Steele, state president of the W. C. T. U. will speak at the session this evening.

Delegates to the county convention from this city are requested to take either the 8:00 o'clock trolley car or the 8:35 bus from the city line this morning.

McNamara Goes to State Fair.

Raphael T. McNamara of Richfield Springs was the winner among the four contestants from the schools of Otsego county for the chance to represent the county in the Farm Boys' camp at the State fair this week. His standing was 57 per cent on oral and written examinations. Howard Thompson of R. D. 3, Oneonta was a close second with the creditable score of 55 per cent.

Adds Two Stars to Service Flag.

Charles Sullivan, who lives on the state road near Otsego, has added two stars to his service flag in honor of his two sons, George and Orra, who left yesterday with the draft boys. Mr. Sullivan's older son, Leonard, was drafted in April. He has one son left who is over 18 and will register for service this Thursday.

QUESTIONS TO BE ANSWERED

BY MEN INCLUDED IN NEW DRAFT WHO REGISTER ON THURSDAY.

Effort Made to Find Men Suited for Various Kinds of Work—Necessary to Claim Exemption from Draft When Enrolling.

The men who are required to register in the new draft, Sept. 12, will have to consider 15 pages of closely printed questions in establishing their status under the selective service provisions. Copies of the new questionnaires received from Washington show various improvements in the form and contents of the new list of questions, with the result that there is little opportunity for confusing or evasive answers.

A successful effort has been made to induce standardized answers and avoid the use of varied terms to describe a given condition or situation. There is, however, a disappointing feature of the new questionnaire in the fact that the promises of the war department that exemption would be granted without a claim clause have been disregarded. Instead of exemption depending upon the answers of the registrant, he is asked deliberately whether he makes any claim for exemption from military duty. The first page of the questionnaire is devoted almost entirely to questions in regard to the registrant's willingness to fight.

The new and the old questionnaires are identical in the matter of classification, the five main classes being retained in virtually the original form.

112 Main Occupations.

It had been announced that there would be included in the new questionnaire an occupational question group affecting persons necessary in their work to the conduct of the war, although not actually engaged in war industries. This group was to be designed for bankers and many types of commercial men, and although announcements had been made regarding its preparation, it is not included in the enlarged list of questions.

One of the outstanding features of the 18 to 45 classification is a "Key List of Occupations," which registrants are to study before filling out the comprehensive blanks. This key list contains 112 main occupations under each of which are placed from two to 14 sub-classifications of the various employments. The result is the most minute distinction in the matter of employment, so that the war department may know the identical details regarding the capabilities of the men registered.

Although the registrants under the first draft provisions answered but 23 questions regarding industrial status, the new registrants will be confronted with 33 questions in this category. All of the questions being of a more searching calibre than those included in the first questionnaire. An entirely separate group of questions has been prepared for men who are stockholders, sole owners or bondholders in industries, and the questions for the agricultural classes have been similarly amplified.

Seek Experts for Army.

One of the most interesting changes in the question routine is the obvious effort to find men suited to train dogs for war service, to obtain results from pigeon carriers and to do special work in chemical branches of warfare. Samples of the questions to be found in the new questionnaire follow:

"Are you a member of a well organized religious sect or organization, organized and existing May 18, 1917, whose then existing principles forbid its members to participate in war in any form?"

"When, where and how did you become a member of such organization?"

"Are you engaged in an agricultural enterprise?"

"What part of your working time do you give to the farm?"

"What kind of crops are grown and the acreage of each?"

"Why cannot your father or some other relative conduct the enterprise without you?"

"If your father is in poor health, describe his health and give name and address of his physician."

"State fully how you operate your farm, personally, with your father or brother, by tenant or by hired manager."

Forms of supporting affidavits for agricultural, industrial and dependency exemption claims are included in the questionnaire and must be sworn to if claims are made.

"Are you a licensed pilot actually employed in the pursuit of your vocation, or are you a mariner employed in sea service?"

"Are you a highly trained freeman or policeman?"

"Are you engaged in an industrial enterprise necessary to the maintenance of the military establishment?"

"Are you an employee, sole owner or stockholder?"

"What part of your working time is given to this enterprise?"

"Describe the specific work you perform."

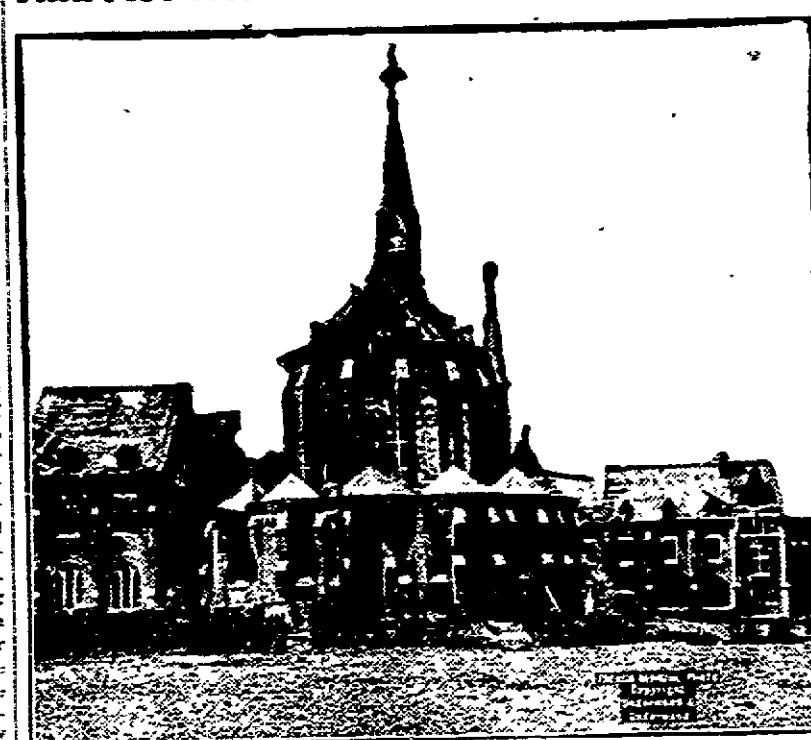

"What pay do you receive by the day, week or month?"

"When did you acquire your interest in the enterprise?"

Saving the Shells.

If the present method of opening an offensive without long artillery preparation is to be permanent, the saving of millions of shells should soon be put in a lessened pressure upon the shell factories. Peter shells needed at the front would release a certain amount of steel for shipbuilding and finally civilian orders in the iron and steel industry might have a chance of being filled. But as a matter of fact, the government's demands on the iron and steel production of the country have lately been increased rather than diminished. — [Exchange.]

TRAPPIST MONASTERY KAISER WANTS SPARED

An interesting development in connection with the hostile shelling of the territory around Mont des Cats, in the Kemmel region, where the famous Trappist monastery is located, is the fact that the Germans have been bombarding this Flemish elevation heavily and the monks' home has been badly damaged.

The German emperor recently wrote a letter to his commander in that area asking that Mont des Cats be spared because the aged prior of the monastery was the only living person who knew where the emperor's relative, Prince Max of Hesse, had been buried after his death in the monastery in October, 1914. The prince died and was buried in a certain place, the location of which was not disclosed to the world.

In an engagement with British cavalry, Prince Max was mortally wounded and was taken to the monastery. While he was being nursed by the monks his comrades were driven from the hill by the British, who occupied it. The prince died and was buried in a certain place, the location of which was not disclosed to the world.

THE VIEWS OF THE PRESS

The Australian Bailout.

As additional testimony comes in it becomes clearer and clearer that the Australian bailout system, tried for the first time in the state at large on Tuesday, has come to stay, and that with its coming a new and better day is at hand in South Carolina politics. The News and Courier has already printed from several of the state papers expressions of satisfaction at the way the new plan of voting worked in Tuesday's primary, and much more comment is now available. It is all one way.

It is impossible to exaggerate the importance of what has been accomplished as a result of this reform.

Unquestionably it means a new era in politics in South Carolina. And perhaps the most delightful feature of it all to some of us is that this reform of all reforms should have come out of Charleston. Here at all events this city and country blazed the way. — [Charleston News and Courier.]

Col. Harvey's Indictment.

"The indictment of Col. George Harvey on a charge of criminal libel should be a warning to all who write for the public print to weigh their thoughts before setting them down in black ink," remarks "Daily Drift" in the Nebraska State Journal. Col. Harvey may not be worrying much about his indictment in the southwest, but the axiom that the Nebraska commentator lays down with respect to the weighing of thoughts before they are committed to black ink applies to all members of the newspaper and magazine profession. — [Springfield Republican.]

As Usual.

Big Bill Haywood feels that the jury's verdict in his case is "one of the greatest mistakes ever perpetrated in a court of justice." Big Bill finds himself in a pitifully small minority. — [New York Herald.]

Always Up.

Hog prices on the local stock market vary upward and downward, but the price of pork chops at the retail market varies only one way. — [Indianapolis News.]

The New Allied Nation.

Recognition of the Czech-Slovak national council, a defect belonging to the government by the United States is a momentous "political move that must shake future history as well as students of American history as one of the most remarkable developments of the war. Formal recognition of the Czech-Slovaks by this government was not only logical, it fulfills the American sense of justice to a people struggling for freedom while adding to the embarrassment of our enemies. — [Brooklyn Eagle.]

Not All of Patriots.

Hurrahing for the flag isn't all there is to being a patriot. An Iowa man, for six years postmaster of his town, and an ardent supporter of all war measures, has been fined $50 for hoarding sugar contrary to law. Patriotism consists in living up to all the food laws just as much as it does in helping the government win the war in other ways. — [Cuba Press.]

Sherman of Illinois.

When the United States declared war against Germany, Senator Sherman of Illinois said we had bought into a bankrupt concern, meaning, of course, that a war for liberty was useless and hopeless. Yesterday, in a prepared speech, he attacked the President and all his assistants and advisers in a way well calculated to fire the German heart. To what extent is the Republican party going to make itself responsible for this tergiversation? — [New York World.]

The Hindenburg Line.

It is just a question, as already indicated, whether the much vaunted Hindenburg fortifications are impenetrable as alleged and whether massed attacks of tanks with infantry followed by cavalry may not be able to sweep the foe out of Flanders and Northern France before autumn rains.

and winter snows force both sides into another period of watching and waiting. There is a growing belief that Foch means to put the matter to a supreme test at once and that Haig and his admirable army will have, if necessary, French and, above all, American reinforcements for its big task. — [Exchange.]

A Direct Appeal.

"So you think my remarks are not worth reading?" exclaimed the congressman who is strong for leave to print.

"I did not say that," replied Senator Sorghum. "But I ask you whether, at a time when men are supposed to sacrifice every pleasure, it is right for you to scatter your polished and beguiling utterances broadcast through the land to tempt men from their toil to revel in your poetic eloquence. I leave the matter, sir, entirely to your own conscience." — [Washington Star.]

His Grievance.

"My doctor warns me not to over-eat."

"Any objection to that?"

"No. Only I could have got the same advice from Mr. Hoover for nothing." — [Washington Star.]

LITTLE SUNDAY MOTORING.

One Venture-some Motorist Finds Air Out of Tire and Gas Shuts Off.

Oneonta observed the government's request to refrain from the use of motor cars on Sunday last religiously, scarcely a car except those where necessity required their use being seen upon the streets. The number of tourists was few indeed and the compliance so universal indicates a patriotic devotion to the country that is at once gratifying and creditable to the community. So far as resident motorists are concerned, it is believed that 99 per cent complied.

Late in the evening Menzo Ostrander rolled up in front of the Wilber National bank building and left his car while he went into the Westcott block. When he returned the air was out of one tire and after he had labored for some time in replacing it with another, he found that the engine would not start. While the trouble was finally located, after a couple of hours' effort, it was found that in some mysterious manner the valve controlling the flow of gasoline to the carburetor had become shut off. It was then Monday morning and he was able to move to his garage without finding any other patriotic rebellion on the part of his car.

CHARGED WITH MANSLAUGHTER

TRIAL OF DAVID REED OF SIDNEY COMMENCED AT COOPERSTOWN.

Accused Charged with Causing the Death of Watson Smith of Unadilla July 1 of Last Year—Nine Jurors Secured—Trial May Be Completed Today.

At Cooperstown yesterday before County Judge U. G. Welch, the trial of David Reed of Sidney, on the charge of manslaughter in the second degree, was commenced and when court adjourned last evening nine jurors had been secured. The trial will be resumed this morning at 9:30 o'clock and it is thought possible that the case may be given to the jury tonight. Henry B. Sewell of Sidney, assisted by Judge N. P. Willis of Cooperstown, is appearing for Reed and District Attorney Adrian A. Pearson is conducting the prosecution for the people.

Star readers will doubtless recall that Watson Smith, the father of a large family in Unadilla, had been spending Saturday night in Oneonta, and on the return, sometime after midnight Sunday morning, July 1, 1917, the motor car in which the party were making the trip home was stopped about a mile and a half east of Unadilla, a rim of the car having come off. Raymond Loomis, the driver of the car, and others went back to search for it. When near the foot of Cutler hill, the sharp, winding hill, the car of Reed approached them and, according to the story of Loomis at the time, Reed was warned to look out for the car ahead, being told its location.

Shortly after the Reed car, moving according to best estimates 25 miles an hour, crashed into the Unadilla car, catching Smith, who was standing behind it, between the two and killing him instantly. Other members of the first party were injured, one being rendered unconscious, but none being fatally injured. Reed claimed at the time that he saw nothing of the Unadilla car, that no tail light was showing and that he saw nothing until he was upon it. He had, in addition to his four lights on the front of his Cadillac car, a spot light, which also was burning, and the Unadilla car was 185 feet from the curve near the spot.

Reed was indicted on the charge of manslaughter in the second degree and has been out on bail since. The case has been adjourned and is now being brought to trial.

Following are the nine jurors now seated in the jury box for the trial of the case: Jacob Bush, Hartwick; H. S. Hull, Burlington; L. H. Washburn, Burlington; Orville K. Putman, Maryland; Ray F. Howland, Oneonta; William Fay, Exeter; Fenton J. Eckerson, Roseboom; Arthur Hoose, Laurens; Harry Spraker, Cherry Valley.

HELEN GARDNER IN CLEOPATRA.

Former Oneonta Girl, Who Has Won Fame on the Stage and in the Movies.

On Thursday afternoon and evening at the Oneonta theatre will be presented the most pretentious and imposing play in pictures in which Helen Gardner ever appeared. In fact the film ever produced when she had her own company, which was some nine years ago. It was so successful that it has been reproduced, a record which few movie films ever attain.

Mrs. Gardner, who will be remembered by many Star readers, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Gardner, formerly of and for a number of years residents of this city, now making their home in Connecticut. Mr. Gardner is here on a visit at the present time and her many friends as well as those of the father are anticipating the production keenly.

The film will be presented at the matinee and at two performances in the evening and at popular prices, despite the size of the production. It has met with success wherever presented and here in Oneonta where she and her ability are so well known it should be greeted by a crowded house.

NORMAL OPENS TOMORROW.

Students Will Commence to Arrive Today for Registration.

The Oneonta State Normal school reopens today with indications favorable for good attendance, although with the reduced number of students pursuing advanced educational work it can hardly be anticipated that the record attendance of the past few years can be maintained.

The faculty members, many of whom have been taking vacations and away since the summer session closed, are returning with most of them here and the others are expected today. With the reopening of the Normal the city will have almost in entirety passed out of the vacation period and entered upon the year's activity.

A Golden Opportunity.

For lovers of music. A year ago you were paying 15 cents for popular sheet music. Now you can buy it at 18 Broad street, Oneonta; 46 Main street, Sidney, for eight cents a copy, 29 per cent off on everything at all of Pudney's music and piano, phonograph and sewing machine stores. How can Mr. Pudney sell these goods at less than present prices, then 29 per cent discount after that? Goods were all purchased before 1917-1918 advanced prices had gone into effect. Mr. Pudney is a hustler. Knows that to sell all his $50,000 stock before Jan. 1, when he goes into active U. S. C. A. war service, it is necessary that reductions and prices be made that will remove stock fast. The Delhi branch agency was closed this week.

LEAVE CITY FOR CAMP JACKSON

Thirty Men From First District Depart Monday—Many Friends Witness Departure—Fifty-five More Leave From Cooperstown.

One of the largest parties of enrolled men which has recently departed from this city assembled at the Delaware and Hudson station at 9:40 yesterday morning for the purpose of entraining for Camp Jackson at Columbia, S. C. Of the men about to depart there were thirty, but with them was a large concourse of relative and friends assembled for the purpose of bidding them good-bye, and the brief interval before the arrival of the train was thus spent.

The soldiers themselves kept a brave front and a smiling countenance, and were evidently impressed with the dignity and importance of the task to which they have been called. In this they were generally seconded by their friends, and families, who bravely bade them farewell and God-speed on their errand of loyalty and devotion to their country. That some could not keep the tears from falling was true, but in general those who had assembled for a last word spoke it bravely and smilingly and with the evident thought that the last memory of home to the boys who go to the colors should be bright and cheerful. It was a noble thought and one should be emulated by those who later see their own sons, husbands and fathers leaving for army camps.

A notable thing in connection with the departure of the Oneonta squad, which was in charge of George D. Gregory as captain, Charles A. Nellis as lieutenant and Maurice B. Townsend, Ralph W. Bennett and Galus A. Fish as corporals, was the presence of many a hard-fought field to victory; and who in the interval before the arriving of the train from Binghamton played "Marching Through Georgia," "Rally Round the Flag" and other patriotic airs. It was a touching and thrilling tribute from the oldest to the youngest soldiers that our country knows.

At Colliers another coach was added to the train, and in it were the fifty-five men from the Second Otsego district, making a total of eighty-five who yesterday left the county for Camp Jackson.

TO REGISTER RAILROAD MEN.

Provision Made That Will Obviate Their Losing Time on the Road.

In order that the Delaware and Hudson company may not be tied up on Registration day, September 12, by reason of the laying off of their men in order to register, special provision has been made to take them out of the city on that date. The D. & H. has designated one of their office men to be at the Local Board office from 10 to 12 a. m., and from 3 to 5 and from 7:30 to 9 p. m. today and tomorrow to take care of the registration of these men, who should come to the Local Board between those hours. The men affected are train service men and members of the wrecking crews. All other D. & H. employees must register at their respective voting places on September 12.

All in Readiness.

The eight chief registrars for the city met at the Local Board offices last evening to be sworn in and to receive final instructions. Registrants who can not speak English will be aided by interpreters at the registration places. Men must register at the voting places in their wards. The list of registration places in the city follows:

First ward, first district—Municipal building.

First ward, second district—Stone's barn, 295 Main street.

Second ward, first district—Walsh's barn, 44 Maple street.

Second ward, second district—Ford's barn, 263 Main street.

Third ward—Coy's garage, 14 Dietz street.

Fourth ward—Wright's barn, 53 Dietz street.

Fifth ward—Powell's barn, 59 Chestnut street.

ADVERTISING A Necessity

WHEN goods are scarce and prices high, people are more appreciative than ever of the right kind of advertising.

They are seeking information. They want to know how to buy to the best advantage. They want to know how to fill their needs and avoid waste. They welcome news of desirable substitutes for the things the country needs to conserve.

They read the newspapers carefully. The merchant or manufacturer who does not advertise is not only missing the purely selfish opportunity, but he is failing in the service he owes to his customers.

KELLY SHOWS IMPROVEMENT.

Surgeons More Hopeful of His Recovery Despite Serious Condition.

More encouraging reports of the condition of Joseph Kelly, who sustained a compound fracture of the skull in the D. & H. yards here a few days since, are received from the Fox Memorial hospital, where he is being treated. While he cannot be considered as out of danger by any means still his condition has shown improvement now for a considerable period and the surgeons are more hopeful that he may recover. It was stated, although not by his attendants, that he had recovered sufficiently to converse with members of his family for a short period yesterday. His injury was a serious one and it is surprising the surgeons in charge that his condition shows encouraging improvement.

Dr. Brady in Scotland.

Reference to the possibility that Dr.

creation, he having crossed over some time since. It is understood that he went at the time Dr. Augustin sailed and that all health prevented him from going to the front.

DEATHS.

Mrs. Carl Sibley

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Collier of 7
Ernst street received intelligence on Sunday night of the death of their daughter, Laura Alberta, wife of Earl Sibley, at her home in Buffalo. Mr.
Sibley and Mrs. Collier left yesterday morning for that city, and later will return with the body of the deceased, where the funeral, of which later announcement will be made, will probably be held.
Death was caused by heart trouble, of which for a short time only she had suffered. Mr. and Mrs. Collier had spent much of the summer with her and had recently returned. At that time there was no reason to expect a fatal termination of her illness.

The deceased was born in Oneonta 22 years ago and had always resided here until December last. She is survived by her husband, her parents and by one brother, Harold Collier, of Albany. She was a member of the First Baptist church of Oneonta from early life and more recently of a Baptist church in Buffalo and was much respected by all who knew her.
Many friends will learn with regret of her death and will sympathize with the family in its affliction.

Mrs. Ursula Sanford.

Orengo, Sept. 9.—Mrs. Ursula Sanford died at her home in this village yesterday afternoon at 3:20 o'clock as the result of failing health caused by old age, she being 78 years of age.
Deceased was born on April 17,
1840, in Kingston, the daughter of Jesse and Olive (Hewitt) Birdsall.
In 1880 she was married to Albert
Sanford, who died several years ago.
She was a woman respected by all who knew her and her kindly nature will long be remembered.

Mrs. Sanford is survived by one daughter, Olive, who is assistant postmistress in this village and who has given her mother the tenderest care during her failing health. One sister,
Ella McCausland, and five brothers,
Hewitt, Seymour, Isaac, Elijah, and Amasa Birdsall, all residing in this vicinity, also survive.

For over 40 years Mrs. Sanford was a member of the old school Baptist church and she was devoted to her church work. Her funeral services will be held from her late home on Sollet street, Wednesday afternoon at 1 o'clock. Rev. D. M. Vail of Clark Summit, Penn., will officiate and interment will be made in the family plot in Walton cemetery.

Mrs. Watson Ostrander.

Mrs. Watson Ostrander died last evening at 5:30 o'clock at the home of her father, Daniel Hungerford, at 307
Chestnut street. Further reference to her demise with the funeral announcement will be made in a later issue.

Funeral of Mrs. Edgar Delamater.

Funeral services for the late Mrs.
Edgar Delamater were held at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the home of her son-in-law and daughter
Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Eggleston, 17
Maple street. Her pastor, Rev. Dr.
James C. Russell of the First Presbyterian church, officiated, reading appropriate passages of scripture, following with a brief address in which he suitably referred to the Christian life and worthy character of the departed and closing with prayer.

Interment was in the family plot at the Glenwood cemetery. The bearers were Charles D. Townsend, Alta
Seybolt, H. Spencer Rowe, Saml. Borst,
Fred L. Larrabee and Donald Watson.

Among the relatives and friends present from out of the city were F.
Howard Delamater of Youngstown,
Ohio; Mrs. Mary Moss and Miss Moss of Camden, N. Y.; Edgar Moss of Donora, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Hunt and Milton Ward of Treadwell; Mrs.
Louis Ball, Dr. and Mrs. A. W. Baker and Miss Janet Saunders of Binghamton.

ECONOMY

It would be wise to investigate your present heating system and see that it circulates (not radiates) pure, warm, ever changing air, free from dust, gas and smoke. If it does less than this you are jeopardizing the health of your family.

Ask your doctor. He will tell you that the proper percentage of moisture in the air is supremely essential to comfort and health. Also satisfy yourself with regard to the importance of the proper circulation of the air. You get both in our installation of Glenwood Furnaces, either the pipe or several pipe style.

Let us talk with you in regard to your particular case.

GOOD OLD "PEP" NEVER LEAVES YOUR UNCLE SAMUEL'S FIGHTER

In the Battle Line or Lying Wounded in a Hospital His Chief Characteristic Is His Indomitable Spirit—If There is Yet an American Who Does Not Hate the Hun He Should Hear the Tales of the Heroes of Chateau-Thierry.

Paris.—The indomitable and unconquerable spirit of the soldiers from the United States is one of the outstanding characteristics that excite the admiration of all who come in contact with them. They make the American proud of his nationality and arouse the envy of those who, by circumstances over which they have no control, are denied the privilege to be one of them.

If there is yet an American who does not hate the Hun, he or she should have seen the first trainload of American wounded that arrived here from Chateau-Thierry. As these heroes modestly related their experiences, one had a mingled feeling of worship for them and intense hatred for the blood-maddened beasts who are responsible for the awful agony which the world is now suffering.

In a compartment with a number of French wounded was a nineteen-year-old boy from Chicago. He was all alone and surrounded by men who could not speak his language. He was in the most terrific pain, but managed to keep down the slightest groan. Nothing could have drawn a whisper from him before his French comrades in arms.

A Red Cross doctor asked him if there was anything he wanted.

"Just a drink of water, please," was the low answer.

He got it. The doctor asked if there was anything else he wanted. The boy wanted to be turned on his side. With a machine-gun bullet through his leg and a wound that had scorched its way across his hips, to say nothing of an injured arm, he was perfectly incapable of helping himself.

The doctor turned him on his side and then discovered the lad had had nothing to eat for 32 hours. Unfortunately he was only one of many in the same fix. The Red Cross did its best and soon had what emergency food it had in the hands of those who were still able to use them. The more seriously injured, of course, were the first to be removed by the long line of waiting ambulances.

Indomitable Spirit.

Before the train pulled in the ambulances were drawn up and waiting. So was a small crowd. As the first ambulance quit the station the crowd started to cheer. There was a dough-boy on the front seat with the driver, one arm in a sling, the other stuffing a sandwich into his mouth. He waved the sandwich in acknowledgment, while a contented look came over his drawn and tired face.

The crowd increased as the ambulances formed almost a continuous train. Words of sympathy were heard on all sides not mingling with tears as the flower of Young America that had marched forth so valiantly a few short months before was painstakingly transferred to base hospitals.

At the end of the procession came a cortege that the crowd grasped the meaning of in a moment. They were ambulances, but their destination was the cemetery and not the hospital. The women wept openly and crossed themselves, while the hat of every man in the crowd came off in a respectful salute to the dead.

The sight was one to wring the heart, but the indomitable spirit of America bobbed up whenever a man able to talk above a gasp was found. Many of the wounds were from shrapnel. Where they were not really serious the possessors told the tale of what they had been through.

It was five o'clock in the morning of July 15 before the platoon to which Louis Cooke of Bayville, La., belonged saw the Germans approaching.

"Our officer just yelled, 'Let's get 'em, boys!' and we started after them," said Cooke. "The Heinies were coming up on the south bank of the Marne and there were only eight of us to about sixteen of them. My pleasure ended right there, though, for a piece of shrapnel bagged me in the left arm and it was back to the woods for me. But, believe me, my company did its share in driving the Hunns into the river."

Didn't Know When to Quit.

If anyone wants to know why the Americans were at first driven back from the river bank, they are hereby referred to Lonnie Shelton of Burdette, Ky. Shelton's unit alone took over 500 prisoners when the Americans returned to the counter-attack, and but for the fact that a number of them were knocked out, as Shelton says, they would have still been going.

"They knocked us back at first by the most terrific barrage I ever saw turned loose, but we didn't stay back long," declared he. "We got the order to counter-attack, and the way we waded back into Mr. Boche was something to write home about. I've never seen such a bunch as we had. They advanced selling like hell, bayoneted and shot down every Heinie that didn't know enough to get out of the way. Those guys could never beat America in a thousand years, and tell 'em I said so."

Kentucky had another man in that same scrap that didn't know when to quit, even after a piece of shrapnel had cut a nasty gash in his right leg.

He's Arthur Baker of Doorway, "Kaintuckee" and he had just gone into line with his company when the ball opened. The barrage got him, but didn't put him out. A little later, when the Germans came over to see about it, Baker was still on the job, working his gun for all he was worth. When the Americans had to go back Baker was so exhausted he couldn't retire. His comrades picked him up and carried him.

They Didn't Last Long.

"Heinie" tried out one of his favorite stunts of dressing up some of his soldiers in French and American uniforms, according to Anton Zolnowski of 2845 South Turner avenue, Chicago.

"We saw ten men on the edge of a little wood a little distance away, eight of them were in French uniform and two in American. We yelled to them to come over and join us. They advanced a few paces and then opened fire on us."

Zolnowski smiled rather unpleasantly as he patted a right arm that bears a machine-gun bullet.

"They didn't last long. We made one dash for them. Not one of 'em got away. They were Germans all right. There was another group coming up. I got a private and then the officer in charge called into me. I tried to shoot him with my rifle, but it was broken. I got him all right, though."

The Chicagoan seemed inclined to end the conversation there.

"How'd you get him?" I asked, after a little pause.

"Just turned the butt end of my gun around and clubbed him over the head with it," replied Zolnowski in the most matter-of-fact tone.

When the Americans came back at them it didn't take long to clean every German out of their territory, declared Elmer Sturtz of Wellsburg, Pa. Before he got a Mauser ball in his right shoulder Sturtz had the extreme good fortune to see two pontoon bridges the enemy had thrown across the river destroyed by the accurate fire of the American artillery.

Content to Be Going.

They were filled with Germans, too. Some of them were coming, but there were others who seemed very content to be going. Two shells from American six-inchers lit squarely over the bridges. There was a terrific report followed by an inferno. Both bridges crumbled in the middle. Both were crowded beyond their limits. Bits of Germans came raining down for almost three minutes, according to the spectator, while from the rivers the wild cries of the injured and drowning made a picture Sturtz will always carry with him.

For a few minutes the river was literally choked with bodies. The Germans were at last moving on Paris, but in a way they had hardly reckoned.

Between puffs of a cigarette, the first he'd had in a day, Frank Hogan of Galveston, Tex., confirmed Sturtz's story of the wholesale drowning of the enemy. The Texan was working a Stokes gun a hundred feet from the southern bank of the river when the first waves of field-green began to cross.

"You can't say enough for these artillery guys," he said, as he tried to twist into as comfortable a position as a wounded thigh permits.

"Ten minutes after the orders had been telephoned to the batteries they had a perfect range on that river. While we were pouring bullets into the Heinies the guns got their numbers with both small and large shells. At the spot where we were stationed I reckon there must have been about 3,000 of the Fritzies got across the river. They didn't all go back. In fact, I don't think there were hardly any of that bunch that'll go back to Germany. We captured over 1,500 ourselves and killed easily 500. The rest were trying to beat it back to the other side when our shells hit their bridges."

Some Sharpshooters.

A Pittsburgher, N. G. Remond, who was injured in the arm by a piece of shrapnel, says there's one American sharpshooter that made a record anyone might be proud of during the first of the mixup. While the German engineers were trying to throw their first pontoon bridges over he picked off twenty-eight of them with his rifle. I couldn't get his name, but he already wears a sharpshooter's medal. He deserves another.

Lots of soldiers believe in "hunches."

James L. Paul of No. 730 Spruce street, Philadelphia, does, and it's a fortunate thing for him that he played his. With a comrade Paul was in a dugout during a barrage. Shells were landing all around. Finally one blew in the entrance, so Paul decided their dugout was becoming a little too warm. He waited for a short lull in the terrific firing and then darted for another shelter. He had not gotten

THE MORRIS FAIR.

Leader Among Real Agricultural Fairs of the State.

The Morris fair will be held four days this year, beginning Tuesday, Oct. 1. The management feel warranted in assuring the public of one of the best exhibitions in the long line of successful fairs this association has had in its 41 years of existence. It has always been a leader among the real agricultural fairs in the state, its entries running as high as eight to ten thousand, and this year promises to equal any former.

The Morris fair's floral hall exhibits of farm and garden products, fine arts and the handicraft of women have always been phenomenal; its exhibition of cattle, sheep, swine, poultry and farm mechanics is always large and interesting.

This year there will be a ball game the first day, races the other days, floral and industrial floats parade the second and third days, grand parade of prize winners the last day, specially interesting acrobatic platform attractions each afternoon. The Laurens band of 25 pieces will furnish music during the fair.

General admission for individuals, vehicles and automobiles is 25c. A dollar ticket admits holder and his team or auto during the fair. There is no tax added. Come and see your friends who will be there and will expect to see you there.

BUYS VALUABLE BULL.

E. L. Hall Secures Sturdy and High Grade Sire at Ready Sale.

At the recent disposal sale held at Farmboro, Vt., of the Sweetbriar farm herd of Holstein-Friesians, owned by William R. Harmon of Williams-town, Mass., E. L. Hall of South Side purchased to head his herd the bull Colantha Colantha Denver Prince, No. 165,047, who was sired by the famous century sire, Colantha Johanna Lad, senior sire for years of the noted fields herd at Dutchland Farms, Brockton, Mass.

The daughters of Colantha Johanna Lad have excelled those of any other bull of the breed (having 100 or more daughters) in the highest average production of milk and butter in seven days, 27 of them giving over 600 pounds of milk in a week. The dam of the new head of the Hall herd has an "A. R. O." record of almost 31 pounds of butter and 615 pounds of milk in seven days and her dam made 27 pounds of butter and gave 633 pounds of milk. If there is anything in breeding and no successful dairyman now doubts it, Mr. Hall may expect good results from the purchase.

NAMED BY THREE PARTIES.

Judge U. G. Welch, the Nominee of Republicans, Democrats and Proh.

Judge U. G. Welch of Edmeston, who is now holding court at Cooperstown, is receiving the congratulations of his friends upon his nomination for the office of county judge to which he was appointed by Governor Whitman by not only his own party, but by the Democratic and Prohibition parties as well. It will be recalled that E. B. Holmes esq. of this city, who was named as the Democratic candidate for the primaries by his county committee, declined to run and no one appeared on the party ticket at the primaries. Some friends of Judge Welch in the party wrote his name upon the ballots and he became the party's candidate. Likewise, friends in the Prohibition party voted for him in the primary and he became the nominee of all three parties. The honor is worthily bestowed all who know him agree.

LETTER FROM FRANCE:

Letter from M. Ogden Writes Urging Support by Folks at Home.

Miss Margaret Ogden of Myrtle avenue is in receipt of a letter from her cousin, Lieutenant M. M. Ogden, formerly of Franklin, a member of the Company D, 2nd Engineers, with the American Expeditionary Forces dated August 14, from which the following excerpts will be of interest:

I wish I could tell you about the many interesting things I have seen and my opinion of the war since landing in France. The censoring rules are very strict, but even at that I expect we step over the limits very often.

I am getting along fine, but am very busy, however, not more so than the rest of the Americans over here. Just now the papers are full of our victories up at the front. Am very anxious to see some of the States papers and read what they have to say of "our drive." At any rate, Margaret, we have the Huns on the run this minute, and I believe man for man, our boys have them outclassed some 95 per cent. I can't tell you what I think about the war, but I'm most sure you will hear good news from now on.

We are having very nice summer weather now. Most of the days are bright and sunny, very warm, but nothing like the sultry August days in New York state, or hot Panama. By the way, I don't believe I'll ever go back to the Canal zone again. I have a trip due me there after the war, but I doubt if I take it. Won't have time, will have to get busy and find a good position. Guess I'll try the west, maybe I'll settle on some of the government lands that Uncle Sam is going to allot officers and soldiers after the war. Probably my nerves will need a rest cure by that time.

Well Margaret, let me tell you what you have done or are doing for the Red Cross is fully appreciated over here. They are doing wonders for the men. Without their help, I don't know what would become of us. Also the Y. M. C. A.'s are helping in every camp. They entertain the boys and save us officers a lot of worry. I see the Fourth Liberty Loan is about to make its debut. It must go then and I am sure it will. We are getting results now and will continue, if the people over home stand back of us.

HONEY AND CORN SYRUP.

Recommended as Substitutes for Sugar at Home Economics Meeting.

Miss Coggeshall, superintendent of the Community kitchen in Cooperstown, addressed the two meetings of the Oneonta Home Economics club held yesterday at the Normal and River street school buildings. There was a good attendance at each session and much interest was manifested in the demonstrations, which were of sugar substitutes, baking, canning and the making of jellies. Peas and peaches were canned and apple jelly was made, one-half each of corn syrup and sugar being used. A honey cake was also made which, like the jellies, was tasted and tried and met with approval by the members present. The recipe for the cake is as follows:

Soft Honey Cake.

One-half cup butter, one cup honey, one-half cup sour milk, one egg, one teaspoonful soda, one-half teaspoonful cinnamon, one and one-half cups barley flour, one cup corn flour, one-half teaspoonful salt, one teaspoonful lemon extract. Bake in a bread tin 35 minutes in a moderate oven. This cake can be varied by the addition of one-fourth cup raisins and one-fourth cup nuts if desired.

The demonstrations today will be in charge of Miss Searles, assistant county demonstrator, and will be held at the Chestnut street school at 2:30 and at East End school at 7:30 p. m.

Knights of Columbus Elect.

At a regular meeting of the Knights of Columbus, held last evening, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

Deputy Grand Knight—John Stacey.

Chancellor—F. P. McCluskey.
Financial Secretary—D. W. Orcutt.
Recording Secretary—A. Molinari.
Treasurer—D. J. Clune.

Demonstrating at State Fair.

Mrs. Chester A. Miller left last evening for Syracuse, where during the remainder of the week, she will assist at the Home Economics department of the Woman's building giving demonstrations at the Thrift Kitchen being maintained during the week. In view of the fact that only three demonstrators have been selected for this week among those giving assistance in the work about the state, this recognition of Mrs. Miller is a flattering compliment to her work.

May Adjourn Walling Case.

The case of the People against Bert Walling, charged with violating the liquor tax law, while conducting the "Stone Jug" on Market street, which was on the calendar for trial before Judge Welch at Cooperstown this week may be postponed, the plaintiff asking for an adjournment, it being alleged that Fred Whipple, a material witness for him, was too ill to appear in court.

LETTER FROM GEO. GEORGESEN.

Tells of the Rescue of Comrade from No Man's Land.

N. D. Georgesson of the Boston Candy Kitchen is in receipt of a letter from his brother, George, now with the colors in France, which tells of his rescue of a comrade which was recently cited as a notable act of bravery by the authorities. In the letter he says:

"One day after our attack against the Huns one of my comrades was severely wounded and was lying on the ground, where it seemed impossible to give him any help as bullets and shells went back and forth sweeping the ground in all directions. After a few seconds and thinking that I could not see one of our comrades lying on the ground in that condition I made an advance to save him if possible, thinking that I did not have a chance to come back alive. I decided, however, that we would both come back alive or we would both die together and happy. Thank God! I reached him in time and got back safely under that storm of bullets and shells and saved him from certain death."

Mr. Georgesson adds: "Give my regards to all my friends in Oneonta and say that when I come back I will treat them all to a dish of ice cream." The letter is postmarked in France August 7, and was received on Saturday.

WOMAN'S LAND PARTY.

To Make Exhibit at Oneonta Fair Next Week, Coming from State Fair.

The New York State Woman's Land party which is soon to open a campaign for one million land workers next summer is arranging to make an exhibit at the Oneonta fair next week and the understanding here is that it will bring the exhibit from the State fair at Syracuse this week.

The women have asked for a booth in Floral hall and will make an exhibit there of posters and advertising matter and also an exhibit of agricultural products grown by women of the state. They will also bring here some of their best speakers, who will speak from the second floor of the band stand in the center of the grounds daily during the fair. It is believed that the exhibit will prove of much interest in this section of the state where the question of farm help will be even more serious another summer than it has proven this season.
